

Friday 18th May

On Monday a very special letter arrived in school. The children guessed it was from the Queen- but it was actually from Meghan Markle! The letter asked us to carry out some special challenges, so this week the children have been incredibly busy completing these challenges. The children have been taking photos and practising being photographers, designing wedding dresses and cakes, role playing weddings, designing and making castles and finding materials to make Meghan a waterproof umbrella (in case it rains on Saturday). The children have been immersed in the challenges and we have been so impressed with the work the children have produced.

The children all looked very smart today and we had a wonderful day in celebration of the wedding. We made crowns and all worked together to make a wedding dress.
